

Bowling Green State University
ScholarWorks@BGSU

---

ICS Speaker Series

Institute for the Study of Culture & Society

---

Spring 2001

ICS Lecture Series 2001: Global Anthropologies

Bowling Green State University. Institute for the Study of Culture & Society

Follow this and additional works at: https://scholarworks.bgsu.edu/ics\_speaker\_series

---

Recommended Citation

Bowling Green State University. Institute for the Study of Culture & Society, "ICS Lecture Series 2001: Global Anthropologies" (2001). ICS Speaker Series. 55.
https://scholarworks.bgsu.edu/ics\_speaker\_series/55

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the Institute for the Study of Culture & Society at ScholarWorks@BGSU. It has been accepted for inclusion in ICS Speaker Series by an authorized administrator of ScholarWorks@BGSU.

The Institute for the Study of Culture and Society presents the annual Provost Lecture Series global anthropologies

Jacqueline Nassy Brown

University of California, Santa Cruz

“From Global to Local and Back Again: Placing Black Identities in Liverpool, England.”

What do cultural constructions of ‘place’ have to do with racial politics, communities and identities? What might postcoloniality mean in a marginalized British city like Liverpool, with one of the longest-settled Black populations in Europe?

Tuesday, March 6, 2001
from 4-5:15 pm.
Business Administration 1007
Reception to follow

Ann Anagnost

University of Washington

“Is the Fatherland Really a Motherland?”

How does globalization affect the relation of motherhood to nationhood? How does China’s intensification of economic globalization affect constructions of maternal agency in child rearing?

Tuesday, March 27, 2001
from 4-5:15 pm.
Business Administration 1007
Reception to follow

David Román

University of Southern California

“Latino Genealogies: Broadway and Beyond”

How do Performing Arts offer a new way of imagining Pan-Latino identity? How might we better understand the current “boom” in Latino popular culture?

Tuesday, April 3, 2001
from 4-5:15 pm.
Business Administration 1007
Reception to follow

lobal anthropolo

All Events are Free and Open to the Public.
For further information please call The Institute for the Study of Culture and Society at (419)372-0585